

Bear Spot Farm and Foundation hosts the Children of the Americas Dressage Invitational (CADI), bringing together the best young riders from Central, South and North America

International event brings dressage, cultural exchange and love for horses – July 30 & 31, 2015 in Concord, MA

July 14, 2015, Concord, MA - Bear Spot Farm in Concord, Massachusetts - CADI brings together the best young riders ages 12-14 from Central, South and North America. CADI gives riders a chance to represent their countries in an international event, develop and perform a freestyle and receive coaching from top dressage trainers over a full week of training and competing. CADI is not just a competition - It is also an opportunity for cultural exchange among all participants and their families using their shared love of the horse. 18-24 riders are selected from applicants from over 30 countries. CADI riders coming from more than 600 miles away have the option of riding borrowed horses.

"This is our eighth year doing CADI and it's always such a pleasure to meet dressage riders and their families from around the world. This year we have riders from Argentina, Barbados, The Cayman Islands, and Canada to name a few. Each rider brings such a unique dimension to the sport. This event offers kids a unique experience that hopefully sets a stage for future International competitions. We are proud of CADI alum Alexandra Dominguez who is currently representing Guatemala at the Pan Am Games", said Jane Karol, Founder and Head Trainer, Bear Spot Farm and Foundation.

"Must-See" Schedule:

- Wed, July 29th: Freestyle demonstrations, 6pm - FEI levels, plus a special guest musician offering a unique performance bringing jazz and dressage together - ($10 admission for general public)
